Gender and STEM: it is time to change the narrative

Wednesday, 10 May 2023 18:35 (30 minutes)

We need something more than “adding” more women in our work context, we need to change the culture and our work organization. In these years we learned many things, mainly that if we want to change something we have to really include the gender dimension in our labs, in our researches, in our management tables. and when I speak of gender, I speak not only of women and for women, but for all.
